

TICKLING OR ROUGH HOUSING

PARENTING CHALLENGES ★ PAGE 1 OF 1

It is wonderful fun to rough house, tickle and play with a child. It is important that the child or the parent is able, for whatever reason, to give the TIME OUT hand signal and that the signal is immediately honored. The activity stops.

Sometimes a child gets too wound up, giggles so hard he or she can't breathe, or the activity gets otherwise out of hand; the ability to call off the game brings safety to that arena.
